Summary of Collection

This collection includes a combination of historic magazines, newspapers, photographs, prints and posters. While some of these items document the history of Montclair, others relate to the broader spectrum of American history. Items such as magazines and newspapers present an opportunity to understand daily life at different points throughout history. They provide a unique perspective of what was important at the time. The prints and photographs in this collection depict a wide variety of subjects, ranging from landmarks in Montclair to historic military attire. The posters give us an idea of the events that have taken place in Montclair and the surrounding area. The collection also contains several historic documents. Several of these are land plots that were drawn by Zenas Crane; others are deeds that date to the mid-eighteenth century.

Scope and Content

This collection contains a variety of materials. The magazines were published between 1850 and 1999. Some are Montclair and/or Essex County publications, while others are broader publications that feature an article on something relevant to Montclair. Others do not seem to hold any relevance or significance to Montclair and its history. Many of the newspapers in this collection are Montclair publications. However, there is also a significant amount of other historic newspapers from other parts of New Jersey and New York. The newspapers date from 1799 to 2001. The prints make up the most varied portion of this collection. They are primarily (but not entirely) reproductions, with a wide spectrum of subjects. These include illustrations of historic military dress, prints from Industrial Woodworking, photographs, paintings, and drawings of landmarks and buildings, advertisements, and posters. Most of the letters are addressed to or from historical societies, public libraries, shareholders, or boards and range from 1872 to 1992. Most of the newsletters and pamphlets are from various New Jersey historical societies between 1973 and 1989. The magazines, newspapers, and prints vary in their physical condition. Most of the older magazines and newspapers are somewhat brittle due to their age and the quality of the paper on which they are printed. The prints are primarily in good condition, due to the fact that most of them are reproductions. The letters and newsletters/pamphlets also vary in condition, with the worst conditions from pre-twentieth century, most likely due to poor storage conditions prior to the MHC.

Arrangement Note

The items in this collection are arranged by type of document – magazines, newspapers, prints, photographs, posters, drawings, and fragile documents. The newspapers make up a large portion of the collection. All magazines are stored in Drawer 1. Drawer 2 and Drawer 3 contain Montclair Times issues, with earlier editions in Drawer 2 and later editions in Drawer 3. Drawer 4 contains all other Montclair publications. All New Jersey newspapers that are not focused on Montclair are housed in Drawer 5. New York City publications are stored in Drawer 6. All other newspapers, including national newspapers and newspapers centered on other locations such as Philadelphia and Albany, are stored in Drawer 7. The prints also make up a significant portion of the collection. Prints, posters, photographs, and drawings with a known direct link to Montclair are stored in Drawer 8. Prints that show military uniforms or military scenes are stored in Drawer 9. Drawer 10 contains all other miscellaneous prints, posters, drawings, and photographs.

Items in the boxes are arranged by subject matter. Newspapers and newspaper clippings take up a majority of the contents of all the boxes. In Box 1, subjects focus on clippings about Montclair and the surrounding communities with themes such as “houses,” “public buildings,” and “streets, schools, etc.” Box 2 continues with several folders of miscellaneous clippings on Montclair as well as a copy of the New York Magazine from 1996. Box 3 solely holds copies of the Courier from 1801-1802. Themes such as articles from New Jersey historical societies, articles about the Montclair Historical Society, and articles from the Community Herald and Montclair Times are found in Box 4. Two books are in Box 5: a scrapbook of articles about Montclair from the mid to late 19th century, and a bound book of Frank Leslie’s Illustrated Newspaper from 1856. Items listed in each box are highly detailed (with article subject/title, publication, and date all listed for each piece) in order to assist in searches.

Processing Note

It is likely that there are additional Montclair newspapers located elsewhere within the Montclair History Center collections. As these are identified, they will be relocated to this collection as space permits. In the event that they cannot be housed within this collection, their locations will be indicated in this guide.

Subject and Name Headings

All of the authorized subject and name headings for the cabinet were taken from the Library of Congress Authority Files.¹ The unauthorized headings are additional keywords that may be useful when accessing this collection, but could not be found in the Library of Congress Authority Files.

It is uncertain if subject and name headings for the boxes are from the Library of Congress Authority Files as the names recorded here come from what was already written on the boxes and folders. Due to this uncertainty, none of the box subject headings are listed below.

Note: This list of headings is not meant to be comprehensive and does not include all of the names and subjects included in the collection. It is intended to highlight some of the key subjects, figures and creators in order to facilitate access.*
